THE CHRISTMAS PRESENT

I am so excited—my first Christmas is coming!

This will be my first Christmas with First Presbyterian. Every church has its own style in celebrating Christmas, and I can hardly wait to experience the traditions of this congregation.

One church I served always had a brass ensemble at its Christmas Eve service. I remember a church member who, having attended a service while visiting out of town relatives, came back surprised that people could welcome the baby Jesus without a single trombone.

The choir of another church always put on a madrigal dinner. They brought in a real boar's head on a platter while singing the "Boars Head Carol" with its Latin chorus: Caput apri defero, Reddens laudes Domino (which means: "The boar's head I offer, Giving praises to the Lord"). The women in the choir wore beautiful medieval gowns, and the men wore doublets and tights. I joined them in the singing, but escaped the tights by dressing as Friar Tuck.

Another congregation, located in a charming, tree-lined neighborhood, received an annual in-kind offering of food, paper products and mittens, which were then delivered to another Presbyterian congregation serving a neighborhood wracked by poverty, unemployment, drugs and crime. The members of that congregation would distribute them where they knew they were most needed. Each year an elder from that congregation addressed ours to say thank you, but he did it in such a way that we knew that we were the real beneficiaries of the offering, which gave us a chance to be partners with Christ in his loving outreach to those in need.

Already I can imagine how beautiful in sight and sound our sanctuary will be when we are singing Silent Night over lit candles on Christmas Eve. I wouldn't want to be any place else.

The feeling of belonging—to Christ, to his church, to his cause, and to each other—is one of the greatest of all Christmas presents. And that is exactly the present we want to share with others this season. Everyone needs hope, everyone needs acceptance, and everyone needs to know Christ, the revealing and reconciling approach of God to the world. Share this present with your neighbors, your co-workers, those you love and – perhaps easiest of all – with casual acquaintances. For starters, you can invite them to be our guests for worship and a light lunch on December 4. They may say they saw something about our church's invitation through an ad on television or in the paper. And they may very well find that our church is exactly what they are looking for: the place "Where Hope Is Born."

See you in Church,

Stephen

ALL IN THE CHURCH FAMILY

Congratulations:

Worship & Music Committee's recognition for special services to our congregation for DECEMBER is the CROP Walkers from our congregation who did an outstanding job of fundraising.

Thank Yous:

Thank you to First Presbyterian friends for calls, cards, and prayers after the October 4th passing of Harold Fisher, brother of Dewaine. It was much appreciated. Dewaine & Betty Fisher

First Presbyterian Church, Thank you so much for your cards, prayers, food and visits after my hip replacement surgery. Pastor Stephen was at the hospital each day checking on me and offering prayer. I've received many cards and visits along with food from many of our members and received the worship flowers after church. Just wanted you all to know that everyone's thoughtfulness and concerns were much appreciated! I'm healing fast and know you played a big part in that. God Bless, Carol Smith

Dear Church Family, Thank you so much for the cards, calls, food, visits and especially the prayers. It was all greatly appreciated and thoughtful. Jean Henke

Thank you to all of you who prayed, visited, or sent cards or flowers during my hospital stay with hip surgery. Stephen came daily and offered prayer and support. Lynn...I didn't know we could be speechless together...our professors wouldn't believe it, either! Peggi, Jean, and Orlena...thank you! Mimi Frerichs

First Presbyterian Church, Thank you so much for the use of your facilities for our soup supper. The proceeds from it are used to provide eyecare and cataract surgeries for those in need. The facilities were perfect – many commented on the round tables and people seemed to linger and visit. It was easy to get things to the kitchen and set-up, too. Thank you so much. Kearney Lions Club

BOOK BROWSING

John Howard Griffin's Black Like Me is as relevant today as it was when published in October 1961. The October issue of Smithsonian has a fine article about Griffin who felt the only way he could bridge the gap between the races was to become a Negro. You will find a copy of his book in our library (09 E) if you care to read it.

FYI . . . the oldest and the newest donations to our library are The Big Fisherman by Lloyd C. Douglas (1948) and John Grisham's Skipping Christmas (2001). Both good reads. You will find them under 09 D.

WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY READERS

There is still time to read books on the 2011 Reading List. Here are four books currently in our church library.

Love Finds You in Valentine, Nebraska by Irene Brand – California girl, Kennedy Blaine, inherits a ranch near Valentine, Nebraska. She plans to sell it but is attracted to the manager, Derek Sterling. While visiting the ranch someone begins to harass her, and she seeks to discover who it is. In the process, she is confronted with painful details about her family, and her search also raises questions about Derek's past. A nice romance.

One Tuesday Morning by Karen Kingsbury – Two men meet in the stairwell of the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001. The tower collapses and only one survives, burned and suffering from amnesia. Jamie Bryan, wife of one of the men, works to rehabilitate the survivor, but which one of the men is it? Hard to put down.

The Wisdom of the Seasons: How the Church Year Helps Us Understand Our Congregation by Charles Olsen – The book is a gift of encouragement, a cup of refreshing water offered for the spiritual health of the church family. Readers will appreciate the real stories from congregational life and ministry – each rooted in and illuminated by a season of the church year.

Cutting For Stone by Abraham Verghese – Cutting For Stone is a sweeping novel that moves from India to Ethiopia to an inner-city hospital in New York over decades and generations. Sister Mary Joseph Praise, a devout young nun, leaves India in 1947 to take a missionary post in Yemen. During the sea voyage she saves the life of an English doctor bound for Ethiopia, Thomas Stone, who becomes a key player in her destiny when they meet up again at Missing Hospital in Addis Ababa. Taize Worship Service

Sunday, December 11, 2011 - 7:00 p.m.

A TAIZE Worship Service will be held the Second Sunday of each month

The TAIZE Community was first developed in Taize, France by Brother Roger Shutz in the 1940's with an ecumenical group of church people from all over the world. It is from this community that TAIZE worship has come.

Our faith begins and ends in worship; yet so often our worship can be submerged in a welter of instruction, edification and moral exhortation. In many churches on a Sunday morning there is little opportunity for corporate quiet, for reflection, for focusing in on the God who speaks to us in the silence of our hearts. The great contribution made by the TAIZE Community has been the popularization of a more contemplative approach to worship.

TAIZE worship includes candlelight, prayers, readings, soft music, and silence. The service is very meditative and offers a wonderful opportunity to be silent and center on the Lord.

The service is open to the entire community.

Come as you are – and bring your friends.

SENIOR HIGH YOUTH GROUP

Senior High youth group visited Highland's Presbyterian Camp and Retreat Center in Allenspark, CO on November 4-6. Shortly after arriving, they were sorted into their houses - Gryffindor, Hufflepuff, Ravenclaw, Slytherin, and an additional house to accommodate the large number of 'students', Hollaren, which was named after Rev. Andrew Hollars, Highland's founder. The Keynote Speaker was Rev. Bill Davis, youth pastor at Covenant Presbyterian Church in Atlanta, GA. They explored and experienced the power of selfless love with a Harry Potter theme. In the Great Hall, decked out with Hogwarts house banners, decorated tables, and lights & candles hanging from the ceiling, they got to sample pumpkin pasties, chocolate frogs, butterbeer, and monster book cake.

In their free time, they enjoyed an afternoon of sledding, a hike to 'the hidden room', a short game of muggle quidditch just before the snow storm hit, a dance, and more.
